

ANDERSON NARANJO

🇨🇴 Serving God in Colombia 🇨🇴

MISSION TRIP

We are often quick to judge, but not to love. We readily point out imperfections and how others don't do things the way we do, but we often forget to show love. This was my struggle while I was teaching in Montelibano, where I realized that serving others means setting aside my own ways and dedicating myself to them by relying on the guidance of the Holy Spirit and the Scriptures.

It's not about my opinions or feelings; it's about teaching through the guidance of the Spirit. I witnessed bright faces when we delved into the Scriptures. What they truly needed was someone to teach them with love, rather than someone to judge them for what they were or were not doing.

MY WIFE AND I

God has given us this beautiful opportunity to serve together by inviting people to our house, sharing food, and spending time with other young believers. My wife really loves to serve people; she is very hospitable.

We are traveling together to every invitation in other cities because the Holy Spirit has guided us to do it this way. It is also very important for our young marriage. I really believe she is more important than ministry.

Our relationship is growing. We are about to have our first anniversary! Thanks for your prayers and support.

PRAYER REQUESTS

- Pray that we can finally establish a Mobile Bible Institute in Montelibano.
- Pray for wisdom in preparing classes for next month; I will be teaching at a Bible Camp.
