Helping Honduran pastors grow and minister by providing them with training

Winter 2023 / 2024

Happy New Year!

As we begin this new year, I am overwhelmed with gratitude for each one of you who has faithfully prayed and generously supported our ministry with World Reach. Your unwavering commitment has been a source of strength and inspiration. We have felt the incredible power of your intercession, and it has been a testament to the strength that comes from a community united in Christ.

Additionally, your generous financial contributions have fueled our mission, allowing us to extend our reach and touch many lives with the transformative message of God's love. Your sacrificial giving has not only met practical needs, but has also been a tangible expression of your commitment to advancing the Kingdom.

In 2023 we dedicated time to train more than 150 pastors and church leaders in 3 different regions of Honduras. One of those regions is home to the indigenous Lenca population. There we are working in cooperation with a group of indigenous leaders to plant churches. The vision is to plant churches in 14 different communities where the gospel has begun to be shared. Currently, ground has been broken and work has begun on the foundation of a church building in the village of Quesuntega. In that village, there is a growing congregation of 60 that meets in homes and under trees.

Thank you for serving alongside us. We are confident that together we will witness even greater manifestations of God's grace in the lives of those we serve.

If you would like to participate by making a financial investment, donations for the ministry of World Reach can be made through world-reach.org or by mail to the address below. Please indicate your preference for supporting "Peter Simpson ministry." Thank you so very much.
