Hey friends,

Thanks for your prayers for camp. Here are a few snapshots from the last week of January with the college age group.

These are from the workshop Jhonatan and I shared on missions. I shared my testimony and challenged the participants with the words whatever and wherever to be willing to say "Yes, Lord" as the camp theme stated "Sí, Señor"

As my parents and Aunt were here, my Dad spoke, the last evening, at the general session. Here is a fun recap video that was made from the week! It'll give you a glimpse of what camp at La Roca looks like.

Time with Grandpa, Grandma, and Auntie Carol meant some special treats (including ice cream!) as well as getting some painting projects done around home! We loved having their company and help!

What a blessing to be a part of Flavio and Silvana's wedding. Noah jumped in, last minute, to fill in for the original ring bearer and I sang a song in English as a part of the ceremony. Their desire to honor the Lord through their ceremony and marriage was apparent. As I mentioned in my last happenings, Silvana was in the class that I taught from kindergarten through 7th grade. She has just finished up medical school to be a medical doctor. Flavio has taught P.E. at La Roca for the last 5 years and is highly involved with the ministries of La Roca. This couple would love your prayers as they embark on this new stage serving the Lord together.

While the students still have 2 more weeks of vacation, teacher in-services start on Monday. Please keep praying for English teachers as the positions are still yet to be filled.

Please pray...

...That the kids and youth would stand firm in the decisions that they made at camp, bringing about life change.

...The provision of the new staff members needed for our 2026 school year, specifically English teachers who have been called and equipped to serve by teaching English while sharing Christ love with the students.

...for a full-time job for Jhonatan, with Monday-Friday hours and without a long commute that would add hours onto each end of his workday. Recently, He has had two leads and an interview scheduled but, it was cancelled so, we continue to pray.

Blessed to know you are there and praying!

Hannah (and fam)

Joella entered double digits this week!
